Launch referendum push

High school seeks sewer options for new building

uary 1, 1991

While campaigning for passage of a $29.9 bond referendum, Antioch Community High School officials are scouting for the most cost-effective sewer plan for the proposed high school building.

"Obviously, we're looking at whatever option would save the district money in the long run," said ACHS Dist. 117 Supt. Gary Allen.

The decision to locate the new school at the district-owned Polley Field was based, in part, on the proximity to the Village of Lindenhurst's wastewater treatment facility (nearing completion). However, another option opened up when it was determined that the site lies within the facility plan area of the Village of Lake Villa.

"We're trying to keep open a couple of options," said Allen, "either going through Lindenhurst or going through the Lake Villa Fox Lake Sanitary District."

A first round of discussion was held Feb.

1, between Allen, ACHS engineers, Lake
Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer and developer Dan Bartok of Clarion Development, to study the feasibility of hooking the high school's sewer lines into Lake Villa's proposed extension into Lake County's Fox Lake Sanitary District.

Clarion Development owns property known as Painted Lakes directly adjacent to the Polley site in Lake Villa. Placement of a sewer line through the site may provide a shorter and less costly alternative to the Lindenhurst system. However, projected costs of such a project have not yet been determined and the Lake Villa extension is pending approval by the Lake County Board.

"We're waiting to see if, in fact, the timing would be right to go through the Fox Lake Sanitary District," said Allen.

According to Frayer, the Lake Villa extension agreement should be on the agenda for the April 9 county board meeting. If approved, the village may proceed with the project with $700,000 already secured through Clarion for the south sewer line. Pursuant to the annexation agreement for Painted Lakes, Clarion would also pay 30 percent of the cost of the north extension, which could include the high school. The remaining 70 percent is scheduled to be paid by grants from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA).

School officials are expected to continue to work closely with both Lindenhurst and Lake Villa, as well as with Clarion, to determine the most practical alternative.

"I'm not looking for anything to stand in our way," said Allen, "I'm looking for whatever option I can to get the school completed by the fall of 1993." Of course, the entire project hinges on the outcome of the April 2 referendum. School officials have begun a public information campaign targeted at voters in the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst area

A fact sheet detailing the circumstances leading to the proposed project is being mailed to all District 117 residents this week.

According to the report, the district enrollment is expected to climb from 1591 in 1990-91 to 2,000 in 1994-95. Anticipated enrollments, based on current elementary school enrollments and proposed housing developments, expect to increase to a minimum of 2,400 over the next 10 years. Additional state mandates are also contributing to the shortage of classroom space.

The $29.9 million bond, if passed, will translate into an estimated additional tax on a $100,000 home equalling $127 per year if the bonds are paid back in 15 years, or an average of $92 per year if the bonds are paid back in 20 years.

The proposed building is planned to accommodate 2,400 students, with class-rooms for all academic areas, necessary lab space, vocational/technical education facilities, an auditorium, cafeteria, library, physical education and athletic areas, fine arts, and swimming pool.

Mayor's comments draw fire

by MARY SULLIVAN Lakeland Newspapers

An uncharacteristically amiable tone pervaded the Antioch Village Hall for the bulk of the village board meeting, Feb. 4. Breaking the spirit was sharp criticism of comments previously made by Mayor Robert Wilton saying that discord in the police department could erupt into "bloodshed".

Trustee Marilyn Shineflug lashed out against published accounts of the mayor's comments and of an attempt by the mayor to order the termination of disciplinary action pending against three police department employees.

Talk pool's fate

VERNON HILLS—After a presentation by Dave Burbach, a municipal engineer hired by the village to inspect a public swimming pool adjacent to village hall, Vernon Hills Village Board and park district representatives voiced a general agreement that the pool may have to be closed once a new facility is open.

'We Care' effort

NORTH CHICAGO—Residents of North Chicago may show their support for the troops in the Persian Gulf war by dropping off needed supplies in the 'We Care' boxes. The boxes are located at the city treasurer's and personnel and public relations offices. City hall is located at 1850 Lewis Avc.

Hire engineer

FOX LAKE---Trustees approved Mayor Frank Meier's appointment of Alan Wilson as the village's first full-time engineer at an annual salary of $39,936. Wilson, a University of Illinois graduate, formerly served the village on a consulting basis. Council members also approved the hiring of two full-time police officers as an effort to improve police protection. The village lost a part-time officer last November due to military needs.

Mills progress

GURNEE—Western Development Corp. officials announced the Gurnee Mills, a super regional shopping center, is on budget and schedule. An Aug. 8 grand opening is set for the project, located on 326 acres at Rte. 132 and Hunt Club Rd. Western Development officials hosted a national project preview on Monday.

Candidate charged

LAKEMOOR — Sheryl McCoy, candidate for Lakemoor village trustee on the Citizens for Responsible Government slate, was arrested and charged with retail theft (shoplifting) last Monday at the Cub Food store in Crystal Lake. She was accused of taking items worth $31 from the store. McCoy, 44, denies the charges.

Village to wait

WAUCONDA — The Village of Wauconda has decided to wait until after the April 2 elections before hiring its first village administrator. Mayor James Keagle said the village will wait so that the new board will have input when the administrator is hired. The village will, however, draw up an ordinance describing the duties of the administrator prior to the elections, Keagle said.

Tougher liquor law

LIBERTYVILLE—Major changes are being proposed for a liquor license ordinance affecting 30 establishments. Insurance requirements will rise from $100,000 to $1 million, inactive licenses will automatically reduce the total number by one after 90 days, no licenses can be transferred, closing for more than 15 days requires written approval of the mayor as liquor commissioner and fines increase to $1,000 per day and a maximum of $10,000.

Explore solution

ANTIOCH—The work may have tailed off, but with spring in the air, Antioch's beaver population will be back at the grind. The problem is gnawing away at property owners, divided over the manner in which to deal with it. They will meet Monday, Feb. 11 in search of a solution. A plan by the Channel Lakes Homeowners Association to place traps and kill the beavers was stalled by residents looking for more humane solution.

Grade school plans

MUNDELEIN—Dist. 75 elementary schools are coping with growth that is averaging 10 percent annually. To accommodate the burgeoning enrollment, 12 new classrooms and two gyms will be completed in the fall. Consideration is being given to concentrating all fifth graders in a single school to make all other schools for grades K-4 and moving administrative offices to one of the grade schools. The existing offices in aged Lincoln School must be relocated within a year or two so the building and surrounding property can be sold.

Seek sewer options

ANTIOCH COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL—While campaigning for passage of a $29.9 bond referendum, Antioch Community High School officials are scouting for the most cost-effective sewer plan for the proposed high school building. The decision to locate the new school at the district-owned Polley Field was based, in part, on the proximity to the Village of Lindenhurst's wastewater treatment facility (nearing completion).

For Gurnee Mills:

Western officials laud cooperation from Gurnee

by STEVE PETERSON Lakeland Newspapers

As he walked down the halls of Gurnee Mills, Ed Agustin would wave to a welder, pose for a picture, or explain a point about the multi-million dollar regional shopping mall with visiting photographers.

Agustin does all of the above with enthusiasm these days, as the mall's projected opening of Aug. 8 nears.

"You're providing a service to the community and creating jobs," Agustin

Agustin, project manager for Western Development Corp.'s Gurnee Mills project, has been in the business of building shopping centers since the early 1970s. His latest project was in north suburban Cincinnati.

Gurnee Mills represents somewhat of a homecoming for Agustin, who is a native of nearby Glenview.

Agustin described the project as nine buildings abutting into one. It is on schedule and on budget. WDC officials hosted a national project preview Monday, welcoming Gurnee officials and guests.

This is the busiest of times for Agustin, whose, unlike owner WDC, relationship with the Mills will largely end on Aug. 8 when the first customers visit. "Then I go on to the next project," Agustin said.

Agustin does visit the projects after they are completed to see the end result of sometimes years of work.

WDC officials praised the cooperation they have received from Gurnee for Gurnee Mills. The hearing process once featured jammed meetings at Warren Twp. High School's auditorium.

"The teamwork has been excellent," Herb Miller, chief executive officer for WDC, said.

"It will be the most positive impact of any mall in the country this year," Steve Jacobsen, vice president for WDC's retail development, said. "It will be a significant project from the first day it opens its doors and for many years to come."

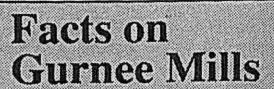

Jacobsen said the WDC and its partners have invested more than $200 million in the mall concept in Gurnee at Rte. 132 and Hunt Club Rd.

Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton, who also runs three Cub Food outlets in Lake County, praised the presence of the Mills. He said the project will enhance the economic status of Lake County. "Through the genius of WDC and the entrepreneuralship, they have improved on every facet of the concept," Welton said.

Village officials have visited the WDC mills concepts in Philadelphia, Washington and south Florida.

Welton cited the contribution of the Mills providing for 4,000 new jobs. Gurnee Mills will also help keep sales tax in Illinois, sales tax dollars now going to the Factory Outlet Mall near Kenosha.

Gurnee Mills will have major stores of 20,000 square feet and speciality stores of 3,000 to 5,000 square feet on the 326 acre project. Among the anchors signed that are unique to the area: Ikea, Vanity Fair, Sax Fifth Avenue, Clearinghouse, Nordstrom Rack, Waccamaw. Known stores with a unique merchandising strategy include: Sears Outlet, JC Penny, Filene's Basement and Ann Taylor Outlet. Ports, Brandsmart, Phar-Mohr and Marshalls Super Store will also be at Gurnee Mills.

Some facts about the Western Development Corp.'s Gurnee Mills, under construction at Rte. 132 and Hunt Club Rd. in Gurnee:

 According to 1989 data, the median household income for the primary trade area exceeds $41,100;

•More than 58 percent of the pimrary trade area households earn in excess of $35,000 per year;

•Between 1980 and 1989, the primary trade area population increased in size by 12 percent, or at an annual rate of 1.3 percent;

•Gurnce Mills is a 2.2 million square foot super-regional mall;

•The total mall is 2,306,000 square feet, there will be 1,084,500 square feet of anchor stores, 113,150 square feet of major stores and 675,000 square feet of specialty retail.

Morris suspects that the trap claimed the lives of three beavers.

"We're going to keep looking to see that there are no traps," added Morris, "I'm not giving up on this, I think it's worth it to pursue having them moved in a humane fashion."

Meanwhile, the problem is growing and may be biting into the natural configuration of the launch area. Mike Dunaj, caretaker of the channel area, says the problem is the worst he's seen in 14 years. Left uncontrolled, Dunaj fears the destruction of the trees will undermine the root system of the landscape bordering the channel. Consequently, the land could detach and the channel would be lost.

"For every beaver you see, there's five you don't see," said Dunaj, who estimates that about 100 trees have been downed.

Morris believes the problem may have been exacerbated when the channel was dredged in 1989, an action that has resulted in an investigation by the IEPA.

"They have attracted the beaver situation," said Morris, "what they did was totally illegal and basically what they're doing is blaming it on the beavers."

IDOC Conservation Officer Rick Giovengo describes the situation as a case of man versus animal.

"It's unfortunate that man has altered his environment so there's an imbalance in the ecosystem, so there's an over-abundance," said Giovengo.

Wolves, bears and other natural predators of the beavers have long since left the area. Hence, the proliferation of the beaver population has caused many property owner to consider them nuisances and already over-populated forest preserves to refuse to relocate the animals.

Firefighters offer $1,000 scholarship

The Antioch Fire Fighters Association is offering a $1,000 scholarship to help a Antioch Community High School student pursue a career in fire science.

The funds are obtained by the association through donations and fund-raisers such as the annual firefighters' ball, said firefighter Rich Frankson. The bulk of the funds are earmarked for equipment and personal gear.

"This is one way to turn the money back to the community," said Frankson.

The first ACHS student to be selected will receive the award in June. In addition to being a ACHS graduate, the candidate must be applying for some kind of fire science major. He or she must maintain a grade point average of C-plus or better, with consideration also given to attendance, participation in extracurricular activities and effort.

Tim Noonan is coordinating the scholarship program at the high school and prospective candidates will be reviewed by a committee comprised of members of the fire fighters' association.

According to Franks, most non-volunteer fire departments employ fire fighters who have earned a bachelor's degree. The fire science curriculum is growing in popularity as evidenced by waiting lists at many of the educational institutions at which it is offered.

In the event that no ACHS students indicate their aspirations in the firefighting field, the scholarship fund will roll over for the next year.

Portable classrooms could cure Dist. 34 space woes

Two additional classrooms are needed in Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 to accommodate the growth within the district. The most feasible option, according to Supt. Dr. Donald Skidmore, is procurement of portable classrooms.

"As distasteful as the use of portable classrooms may be, it appears to be the best option we have at this time," said Skidmore in a monthly report, "it makes financial sense and causes the least disruption and inconvenience to our programs, students and staff."

Other options probed by Skidmore include offering SEDOL two less classrooms, discontinue teaching general music in the music rooms at Oakland and Antioch Lower Grade School, partition the libraries at Oakland and Antioch Lower Grade School, or bus classes outside the district to rented classroom space, the nearest of which is available in Zion or Waukegan.

By restricting SEDOL to two less classrooms, Skidmore anticipates that the program would be forced to seek housing at alternate sites, thus placing an additional assessment of $30,000 ($15,000 per classroom) on the district. Also as a consequence, additional students would have to be bused outside the district.

The transfer of the music program to regular classrooms, Skidmore predicts, would place a obvious restriction on the program, as would partitioning of the libraries.

Special meeting set

A special meeting of the Board of Education of Antioch Community High School Dist. 117 will be held Thursday, Feb. 7, at 7 p.m. in the Commons. The purpose of the meeting is for the high school and elementary feeder school boards and superintendents to discuss the April 2 referendum for construction of a new high school.

Each week the State Bank of Antioch contributes $100 to the Parent/Teacher Scholarship Fund in the athlete's name. Congratulating Lehr are Coach Ted DeRousse and Kurt Duehr.

Virginia and Jack Goss of Antioch have recently been personally touched by the war as their oldest son, Ray Gardin, was recently shipped to Saudia Arabia to join the troops assembled there awaiting further orders. Ray is a structural repairman in the airforce. He is a former Grass Lake student and graduated from ACHS in 1989. I am sure everyone has been secretly praying for a miraculous quick ending to the war and in turn the safe return of our service-

Now I am going to ask you to pray an even more personal prayer for the safe return of one of our very own Antioch boys, Ray Gardin. Also please include Ginny and Jack Goss in your prayers, Tony and Dawn Gardin, Ray's brother and sister, in your prayers, that they all receive the strength needed to endure Ray's absence and involvement in the war. This may also be the right time to count your blessings and thank God for all of the good things in the world and ask him to guide our world leader in their decisions.

Don has always been a very active member of the community and he brings many years of valuable business experience to the board. He and his wife, Judy, have helped with numerous PTO functions and school related activities for many years. Their son, Marc, is presently in the seventh grade and both Marc and Judy are very excited over Don's appointment. Don will be officially sworn in at the Feb. 19 school board meeting. Military wives vow support during stress

Editor's note: A group of military wives from Great Lakes Naval Training Center submitted the following article as an expression of their feelings in connection with news coverage of the Persian Gulf War.

We are tired of the media constantly portraying the crying families of the deployed forces in the Middle East conflict. There IS another side to this story.

Never before have we seen so many people from so many walks of life pulling together to talk of their feelings and share support despite differences.

On the night of Jan. 16, a camera crew from a local television station was at a family support group meeting. We feel they invaded our privacy. Later that evening they showed a clip from the meeting on the news. It was of a woman who was shocked, dismayed and visibly upset. But they omitted the opposite side of this coin, the individuals who support President Bush and what our troops are doing over there.

We feel we were unjustly portrayed. We are NOT a group of sobbing, grief-stricken individuals crying in our coffee.

We are a group of strong individuals who are willing to go to any end to help another person in the same situation should they need it. Occasionally we do cry, but that doesn't mean we don't strongly support our troops or that we are incapable of handling whatever life throws at us. Perhaps this is our trial by "fire." We are united, strong and in full support of our troops and that is as it should be.

We wish all news correspondents under fire from both sides a safe and speedy return to their families and loved ones. God speed to all troops and a safe and speedy end to this conflict.

Democratic gains

Except for party loyalists, scant attention has been paid to a rather startling change in the make up of the Lake County Board, the gains made by Democrats in the election last fall.

With board membership remaining at 24, perhaps the increase in Democratic seats from four to six is not all that significant. While County Democratic Chairman Betty Ann Moore takes pride in a "50 per cent increase," even voting as a bloc the Democrats aren't likely to swing many issues.

Where the increase in County Board This is where Chairman Moore knows that the Democratic strength undoubtedly will become evident.

What encourages Moore more than anything is the indication that the Lake County Board probably will be redistricted into single member districts. Sixteen has been mentioned widely. The County Board Democrats are clumped two each in three lake shore districts. If the Democrats can retain three redistricted seats and pick up a couple more elsewhere they become a respectable force in County Board politics, jumping from a quarter of the elective body to a third.

The game of nlaving " or work! board. That's why how redistricting plays out at the County Board level before 1993 will be so important.

What a beautiful sight Editor:

I have been trying to sort out my feelings---sadness, anger, emptiness, anxiety, frustration, fear and a feeling of loss.

In war there are no winners.

Then I drove past the corner of Rte. 12 and Grand Ave. This man is holding our flag and wearing yellow ribbons. It made me feel so proud. Maybe this is what it's all about. I hope that I will see him again soon on that same corner welcoming home our service men and women; that they will return physically and mentally well. Until then I will wear a yellow ribbon and pray for peace.

Fly the flag

Editor: The people of Wauconda were quick to put up crosses in protest of a man who said we couldn't have a cross on our watertower. I think that is is nice to see the people behind the town, but it would also be good to see them behind our country by flying our country's flag. I know many people may object to the war, but why not fly it in honor of the troops. I'm flying my flag because I care and it would be nice to see other people doing the same.

Unneeded tax grab

The referendum on new schools has been announced for April. The timing of this is not casual. This puts the question in the voters before we feel the impact of the much larger and more dubious increase the school board voted to impose on the taxpayers on Dec. 22.

I find it ironic that after taking advantage of a loophole to increase every homeowners' tax bill from $100 to $500 this year the Dist. 95 now is forced by state law to hold a referendum on a much smaller tax increase to construct two buildings. When the school board begins telling you how vital the new schools are, just ask them why they grabbed the big increase they didn't need all of. Maybe if they roll the increase back to what they originally thought they would need and budgeted for, then we can support yet another tax increase.

Facing a bully

Editor:

I appaud the trustees of Mettawa for their stand in voting against a proposed development at the threat of a lawsuit. I believe that if more municipalities did this, then fewer developers would try to bully their developments through, when taxpayers are clearly against them. This might also help curb empire-building mayors, who back these developers, from saying that if we don't back these development then we're going to be sued. they can't sue the whole county. Hats off to the trustees of Mettawa.

wetlands as the single leading source

(20%) of the methane gas that contributes to the greenhouse effect.

Couple this with the enormous amount of taxpayers money ($50,000 annually in Libertyville Township alone!) spent to have mosquito abatement programs while at the same time the breeding of mosquitoes is cultivated by the forest preserve with more of the taxpayers money being spent to create wetlands, and it does not take a rocket scientist to question if the problems associated with wetlands don't outweigh the good points of same.

Hastening demise

Editor:

Mayor Sindles and the majority of the village board have really missed the mark in dealing with the vacant Jewel-Osco property. The village will suffer if the 18year covenant restriction on this property is not challenged soon. We don't need an expensive payout for a comprehensive plan to tell the taxpayers what they already know-that the population center of Mundelein is not located at the intersection of Rtc. 45 and 60. Suppressing a vital anchor grocery business on our largest centrally unoccupied property will only hasten the demise of our downtown area. Trustee Ralph Rohling has taken the community's pulse, armed with a petition signed by hundreds of concerned citizens. The message is clear-Mundelein needs and wants its downtown area. A grocery store is vital for it to survive. If our current administration wants to stick their heads in the sand, our citizens must replace them with those who will address the needs of the village.

Not fit to live in

Editor:

Problems arise because we are at the mercy of investment land buyers and developers who set the pace and artificially raise land values so that they can make monumental bucks on their returns. And the real estate industry lock-steps with them because that's how they make their money. They are delighted to see land and home values soar.

Why do you think the Lake County Forest Preserve has such a struggle to acquire and save land and habitat of value to us all. They are competing with the developers and negotiating for land with investors, and owners of inherited land who have no love for the land, but want two and three times the fair market value which they can get from developers. And shame on anyone who dares jeopardize their god-given right to the "highest dollar".

Realtors sanctimoniously talk about seeking the highest value for land, but that's self-serving garbage. They mean "what profits the most people most".

To speak of high profits as if it were a high-minded goal in life is sad. If one only looks high enough they will find God. They will think high about His realm; about the great gifts He has given (Continued on next page)

A refurbished Electroliner now is on display at the Illinois Railway Museum at Union in McHenry County, a glamorous 50-yearold and a reminder of a time when rail was the way to travel. If you're over 60(like me), you'll probably recall the heartstopping sight of the Electroliner streaking at more than 100 mph across the Lake Country countryside on the way to Milwaukee or returning to Chicago.

MUST SHOW BANQUET-One of the best Republican shindigs of the season will be this weekend. It is the annual Lincoln Day Dinner of the Grant Twp. Republican Club.

The place is Maravella's restaurant at Grand Ave. and Washington St. in Ingleside. Tickets are $18 each and can be obtained by calling Grant Twp. Clerk Gordon Kiesgen at (708) 587-0371.

Guest speaker is former Lt. Gov. George Ryan, now secretary of state. Highlight of the evening is presentation of the Heart Beat Award to the person who has done most for the Republican Party in Lake County during the past year.

Since this party is always so close to Valentine's Day, there is always a special surprise for the ladies.

This is one not to be missed. It is the granddaddy of GOP functions. As a matter of fact, it is so old even those putting the program together have forgotten when or where it started. 000000000000000000000

DIAMOND MAY SHINE-Another political appointment may be in the offing by Gov. James Edgar. In January he named former downstate Mayor Robert Hickman the new executive director of the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority.

The man who served as assistant secretary of state for three years under Edgar will earn $88,000 a year in his new job. He succeeds Thomas Morsch Jr., who submitted his resignation in December.

This could pave the way for the appointment of a prominent Lake County Republican to the authority. Such a person is none other than Jack Diamond, Waukegan Twp. GOP chairman and man who helped marshall the other Republican precinct foot soldiers in Edgar's November vic-

There is an interesting connection between Diamond and the new tollway chairman. Hickman was formerly deputy director of accounting revenue in the secretary of state's Financial Institutions Division. This is the same branch for which Diamond labors.

Could such an appointment mean that Robert Neal, a Thompson appointment to the authority, will have to shed one of his many hats? There is such speculation.

But if Neal stays, look for Diamond to get a juicer political plum. Everyone who knows say he is a diamond in the rough. But he is in the right place at the right time.

and the wildlife, that enrich our lives. Too many good people are being driven from their homes. A town lowering its tax rate will not do it when the home values keep increasing. It is a specious argument to say more development means more sharing of a tax burden. We know the hard truth now. Development is like a bag of maggots, you gotta clean up after them and it costs in a lot of ways down the line. People should do something to put a halt to his cruel game the profiteers are playing, or Northern Illinois will not be fit to live in.

10 cent toll sought for Tri-State link

by JOHN S. MATIJEVICH State Representative

Last year, I reported here of the "highway robbery" at 4 a.m. on June 30 when the legislature passed House Bill 4190 to give the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority awesome powers. They can virtually build a tollway anywhere they want with a simple approval by resolution adopted by the legislature...and that can be done in five minutes.

As the 87th General Assembly begins, I have so far filed three bills relating to tollways. If we don't curb the power of the tollway agency, the whole philosophy of tollways as "user highways" will have been subverted from this day on.

House Bill No. 73 provides that tolls on the Tri-State and Northwest Tollways shall not exceed 10 cents. Also, it stipulates that those tolls shall be used only for repair, maintenance, or reconstruction of those tollways. In other words, the tolls could not be used to build new tollways.

Of course, I realize that one can criticize a bill that mandates such a low toll, one dime. Surely, such a low-proceed toll would bring even more traffic. I understand all of that, but the legislation was introduced to make a point. If a toll is to be collected from users of the Tri-State and Northwest tollways, it should be used only to repair those highways. They have long since paid for those highways...10 years ago.

The better, logical, and moral thing to do is to totally eliminate tolls on the Tri-State and Northwest tollways. Has anyone computed the cost of traffic congestion caused by the long lines at toll-collection booths? Release that congestion by removing tolls there. By doing that, you would also require the North-South Tollway to be what it should be; a user highway paying for itself.

House Bill No. 173 requires the Toll Highway Authority to complete an environmental impact statement before beginning new toll highway projects. It forbids use of environmentally or historically significant lands for toll highway projects unless there is no alternative.

The bill is similar to an amendment that I tried to offer last year. It was drafted by the Open Lands Project and the Illinois Environmental Council. Environmental groups are rallying to support H.B. 173 as a way to halt the power of the Toll Highway Authority to ignore environmental concerns when constructing tollways.

When the state's Department of Transportation (DOT) constructs highways it must follow federal laws and guidelines under the National Environmental Protection Act. The argument that DOT uses federal funds when it builds highways while the Toll Highway Authority uses no federal money, "doesn't wash." The environment must be a major concern and must be protected, whether state, federal, or other funds are used.

House Bill No. 174 is a major bill which would repeal much of what the legislature did that early June 30th morning. Mainly, the revenues of existing tollways could not be used for new tollway construction. Also, before a new tollway is authorized, it would require public hearings in each county where the tollway is proposed. The legislature would be required, after the public hearings, to approve such new tollways by an Act, rather than by joint resolution. That means, a new tollway would not be quickly "greased," and more deliberate consideration would be required.

Taxpayers in Lake County have a stake in what's going on by giving the Toll Highway Authority new, virtually unlimited powers. We are paying high taxes "at the pump." Instead of being used for highway purposes, federal motor fuel taxes are being used for budget deficit reduction.

U.S. Transportation Secretary Sam Skinner has warned that states must rely more on "user fees," or tollways, to build highways in the future. What he has said is that we'll be jolted twice ... at toll collection booths and when we buy gas.

First, I think that it is unfair to hit us with a "double-tax whammy," Second, even if we are going to impose "user fees," make them pure as user fees. Allowing the North-South Tollway to be constructed with revenues paid by Tri-State motorist falls outside the definition of user-fees.

My bills face an "uphill fight." The Toll Highway Authority hires a powerful lobbyist. The "bond people" will fight the bills. The "road building lobby" will fight the bills. "Political power-houses" will oppose the bills. But, I believe that I'm right that the Tri-State Tollway, by users, has been paid for and should be a freeway, as promised. I believe that I'm right in protecting the environment. And I know that many people, taxpayers and motorists, agree with me.

Charlotte Beck — proprietress of the brand-spanking-new Car Spa on Peterson Road in Libertyville — won't tell you much about the services offered by her establishment — not that there aren't a great many Instead, Beck will tell you about quality control engineering and statistical process control (SPC) and how those concepts can change the face of American business.

Beck is a certified quality control engineer and retired from Abbott after 36 years of service. She's also chairman of the American Society for Quality Control, Northeastern Illinois Section.

"I think every person in the United States should be a quality control engineer in addition to their other job," Beck said. "It applies to any work situation."

Beck said the scientific principles of quality control engineering go back to the years prior to the start of World War II.

"The president knew we'd be in a war," Beck said. "He asked a team of men at Bell Labs for something to ensure quality.

They came up with a mathematical science."

That marked the creation of the Bell Curve, which — based on the laws of chance — is accurate 99.7 percent of the time.

The inspection of incoming products was based on the laws of chance, which "never, never, never, change," Beck said. "A few samples of incoming goods were checked, and it was derived by mathematics if the lot was good."

Beck said because of the life-or-death importance of their products, "pharmaceutical companies were at the forefront of quality engineering."

A group led by Dr. Edwards Demming then came up with a formula for the quality control of products before they were manufactured.

Beck said the American people had a cool response to Demming's theory, however. "They said, 'We make the best stuff in the world."

But after WW II, Japan was open to anything.

"Japan was wiped out after World War II, and they came to the president for help," Beck said. "He called Demming, and he said he'd help, if they (the Japanese) would do everything he said."

The rest is history. Japan is an industrial giant, and according to Beck, American businesses are on the decline as our industrial complex becomes more and more service-oriented.

That brings us back to statistical process control, which is what a quality control engineer implements. SPC is what Demming taught the Japanese. Mathematical charts or formulas are used to ensure that work will be done right before it's done at all.

"It's a complex subject, but it's a very

"It's a complex subject, but it's a very simple one once you understand the whole picture," Beck said. "It's a system created to give light at the end of the tunnel for small businesses, which are having difficulties today."

With SPC, control is the key word.

"It's a mathematical science that gives the worker control over his environment — he knows today if he's going to make a good product tomorrow," Beck said. 'I think every person in the United States should be a quality control engineer in addition to their other job. It applies to any work situation.' — Charlotte Beck

"He can make the product right the first time — if it's bad, he can stop making it.

"And it gives him a wonderful, euphoric psychological feeling — he's proud of what he does.

"SPC is so psychological. The most gratifying thing is the smiles on the faces of employees."

Beck said she has proof positive that SPC will work for a small business. While working at Abbott, she helped a printing vendor implement SPC, and the company realized a revenue growth of from $7 million to $11 million the next year.

Now it's time for — you remember — the Car Spa.

Beck has installed a very sophisticated computerized system called Washworx, and it'll help her implement SPC.

"I'm going to gather a tremendous amount of data," Beck said. "It will take one, two, three years to do that."

In the meantime, Car Spa employees, or "associates," are on a profit-sharing program.

"It's a very special form of profit sharing," Beck explained. "We don't promise anything. We're all trying to build something together. They're working towards extensive quality and to keep them coming back and talking about us. Through that, perhaps they'll become financially "Employees make or break them (businesses)," Beck said. "Owners don't seem to realize that.

Academic underachievement: How parents can help their children with school problems

Feb. 13, 1991 7-8 p.m. Presented by:

Susan Mayfield, Ph.D. Lake-Cook Psychologists

Staff Psychologist, Saint Therese Medical Center

Howard Atlas, Ed.D.

Chief Psychologist, Waukegan School District

Few things are as frustrating and agonizing for parents than to see their children struggle with school performance problems. Academic underachievement problems are quite common and can sometimes mask underlying difficulties such as learning disabilities, depression or anxiety. Finding the right solution depends upon understanding the cause.

This presentation by a clinical psychologist with many years experience in this area, and a school psychologist with special expertise and training in academic problems, will help parents learn how to help their kids apply themselves more fully and succeed in school

Beck and her husband Stan, who's still an executive with Abbott, began planning the Car Spa about five years ago. They used the money they'd earned at Abbott and while moonlighting at other jobs. The new business is an investment in the futures of their three grown children.

"We decided to throw them a fishing pole instead of a fish," Beck said.

There were some ruts along the road, but the Becks stuck with it. They studied car wash operations during those five years of preparations.

Another developer wanted to build a 24-hour self-service car wash next to the Car Spa site. Forest Creek subdivision residents weren't too hot on that idea. The other developer finally Beck said she's on good terms with the subdivision, and there were no problems with zoning, but you can always count on something going wrong.

"We had every problem you could think of," Beck said. "I said let's just sell the lot, but Stan said we've got to do it for the kids."

And in the end, the Car Spa stands. It's bright, cheery and clean.

In addition to the three basic clean-up packages. you can make an appointment to have your tired, dowdy vehicle brought to life in the detailing room.

LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS

For young people, their first car means their first love

There are many milestones in life: marriage, having children, retirement, and so no. But for teenagers, the one they look forward to most is getting their first car.

To 16 and 17-year-old, having a car means more than just transportation, it represents a new sense of freedom and independence. They no longer have to rely on mom or dad to drop them off at a party or take them to the mall; now they are free agents taking one of their first steps into adulthood and responsibility.

Fortunate are the teenagers who work hard, save money and pay for their first automobiles themselves. It may be easier to have mom and dad pay for it, but the personal satisfaction and sense of achievement they will gain when buying it for themselves cannot be surpassed.

Teenagers who just purchased their first cars are easy to spot. They will have wrinkled hands from washing and waxing so frequently; they are in and out of the auto parts stores purchasing every accessory known to the car industry; they usually carry a photo of their cars in their wallets and they probably have a subscription to Car Craft magazine.

These young driving enthusiasts don't even mind the first repair or two. Actually, they find the added responsibility a challenge. The first couple of times stuck in traffic don't bother them either, they actually think it's kind of fun. Teenagers new to driving love it and probably invented the phrase "joy ride."

But at some point it will happen, every young driving enthusiast becomes not-so-enthusiastic about driving anymore. It could be a three hour line at the Dept. of Motor Vehicles, or a traffic jam that made them late for work, whatever the cause, they then realize why driving is considered a "necessary evil." Depending on the individual, this transformation could take two months or two years, but it's bound to happen. In some ways, driving could be compared to romantic love: They are both necessary for most people; they both evoke emotions of pleasure, excitement, anger and frustration; they can both become part of your personality and everyday life; you can have two cars or two lovers but in both cases it may be tricky; and you never, never forget your

Brakes deserve preventive maintenance

Brake failure is the leading cause of motor accidents due to mechanical deficiencies. The vast majority of these failures can be traced to neglected maintenance. Car Care Council offers this basic information to help owners better understand their vehicles' braking systems.

When you step on the brake pedal, you create friction that resists the wheels from turning. Eventually, friction causes the brake parts to wear out and require replacement. You can make your brakes wear better and keep repair costs down by using good driving habits.

When you stop, let the vehicle slow gradually instead of stopping suddenly. Never ride the brakes on long hills.

For maintenance, check the fluid level in the master cylinder once a month, and add heavy duty brake fluid if the level is low.

Be aware of the symptoms of brake trouble and seek the advice of a qualified technician when brakes act erratically. You cannot put a price tag on the security of knowing you have a good braking system under

1991 Tax Time Tips

Choose lump-sum distribution options very carefully

If you are about to retire or change jobs, or if your employer is terminating a retirement plan, you may be eligible to receive a "lumpsum distribution," as defined by the Internal Revenue code. Such a distribution may be substantial and may represent one of the cornerstones of your retirement security. So consider your options carefully before making a decision regarding distributions.

Two main options need to be addressed. There are many IRS rules and regulations concerning retirement plan distributions that you should discuss with your tax advisor. But questions will generally lead to consider two options:

Should I roll my distribution over into an IRA rollover account?

The advantages of paying taxes now if you decide not to roll your distribution over into an IRA rollover account, you will pay taxes in the year you receive the distribution and have the remainder to invest as you please, without regard to further IRS rules and regulations.

The main benefit of paying taxes on the distribution now is that you may be eligible for a special tax treatment of five or 10 year forward tax averaging or capital gains treatment. If that is the case, you may pay a lower tax rate than usual on the distribution. Otherwise, the distribution will be taxed at your ordinary income tax rate.

If you are under the age of 59 1/2, you may be subject to a 10 percent premature withdrawal penalty on your distribution.

Second option is to roll your distribution over into an IRA rollover account.

This alternative assures that your assets will continue working to provide for your retirement. The main benefit of rolling over a distribution is that you would continue to defer current taxes on these assets until they are withdrawn from the IRA rollover account.

The advantages of tax-deferred growth are considerable. All assets in your IRA, including the earnings on your rollover, will continue to grow free from current taxes until your begin distributions from the account. Under current IRS regulations, you need not begin receiving distributions from your IRA until you reach age 70 1/2.

Rollover facts to keep in mind as you can see, there are significant advantages to IRA rollovers. Now let's consider some additional important facts about rollovers.

You have only 60 days from the receipt of your lump-sum distribution to roll over to an IRA.

You may roll over all pretax contributions and all earnings from the distribution from your employer's plan. However, you may not roll over any after-tax contributions.

Regardless of whether it is deductible, you may take your annual $2,000 IRA contribution to your IRA rollover account. However, mixing regular IRA contributions with your rollover amount will prohibit you from rolling your distribution back into another employer's qualified plan in the future.

With a contributory IRA, you can only put in cash, but with a rollover IRA, if you receive non-cash assets as part of your distribution you can put them in directly. For example, if you receive shares of your employer's stock, you do not have to sell them.

In order to put them in your rollover IRA you may take distributions from your IRA rollover account at any time. However, if you are under age 59 1/2, you will be subject to a premature distribution penalty, unless the distribution is on account of death or disability, or takes the form of substantially equal periodic payments (as defined by IRS code section 72(T).

The IRA rollover account provides you with an opportunity to continue building your assets while you defer income tax until you begin receiving distributions during retirement. When you may be in a lower tax bracket than during your working years. This could mean the difference between living simply and living well during your retirement.

Before deciding which taxsaving strategies best meet your objectives. It is a good idea to evaluate your complete personal financial situation, and be sure to consult your personal tax advisor before making any taxrelated investment decisions.

WAUKEGAN/LAKE COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

In a class by itself.

The prosperity of the Lake County business community and the vitality of its programs define the success of the Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce; but the organization itself has attained substantial national stature in its more than 75 years of service. Recognizing this, the Small Business Administration has designated this employer association as Small Business Resource Center, and the U.S. Department of Commerce has also designated the chamber an Associate Office.

More significantly, in 1991 the Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its 17th year as the only chamber of commerce in Lake County that has achieved and maintained National Accreditation by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Taxpayers can help Illinois homeless Illinois taxpayers can help people who are homeless by designating a contribution to the Assistance to the Homeless Fund on their 1990 Illinois tax returns.

"A recent study has shown that families, women with children under age five, account for 40 percent of the people who are homeless," said Public Aid Director Kathleen Kustra.

Taxpayers can donate any amount over $1 to the fund by writing that amount on line 16D of their 1990

Illinois Income Tax form.
Taxpayers can donate their refund, or any part of it over $1, or they can write a check for the amount they would like to donate if they are not due a refund.

Public Aid uses the money for capital improvements to Illinois shelters to expand capacity and/or accessibility to facilities serving homeless people. It will also be used to transport homeless people in rural areas to needed services, such as job interviews, medical appointments, and other social services. The money will also be used for providers to match federal funds to purchase equipment and furnishings for shelters.

In 1989, its first year, the Assistance to the Homeless write-in campaign netted $263,988.69 for Illinois' homeless shelters. Among the six tax write-in options, the homeless fund raised the second largest amount.

Uncle Sam 'beneficial partner' in home sales

If you sold your home at a profit in 1990, Uncle Sam may be a "beneficial partner" in the transaction.

The secret to minimizing potential tax liability lies in keeping detailed records, advises Robert G. Walters, senior vice president of Baird & Warner and general manager of the company's residential sales group. Your age is also a factor.

"The steady rise in home values in recent years and the potential tax burden is especially relevant to anyone who sold a house last year," said Walters, explaining:

"Profit on the sale of a house is taxable income, subject to certain allowable deductions. The surest way to avoid paying large tax bills is to take advantage of all legitimate tax deductions."

If you are under 55, one sure way to avoid taxes on your profit, technically known as a capital gain, is to reinvest it in another costlier home within 24 months. If you're over 55 you might be able to avoid taxes altogether.

An example of the potential tax benefits of home sale is: You bought a home in the Chicago area in 1982 for $75,000 and sold it in 1990 for $125,000. If you did not keep recads, you might have to pay tax on a capital gain of $50,000 the difference between your buying and selling prices.

However, many costs of buying and selling the house, as well as certain improvements made during occupancy, can be subtracted from the profit to reduce your eventual tax liability.

Using the same example, case of how a homeowner can benefit by keeping accurate records over the years that he/she owned the home:

house in 1982, you paid $250 to an attorney to handle the deal, and another $250 for title search and insurance, recording survey and appraisal fee. This added $500 to the purchase price, which eventually can be deducted.

you added a bedroom at a you remodeled a bathroom at a cost of $5,000. In this example, $15,000 can be subtracted from the profit when the house is sold.

When you sold the house in 1990, you also paid selling expenses, including the broker's six percent commission, attorney's fees, advertising costs, mortgage satisfaction fee, state tax stamp and title abstract. Also, you may further lower the amount of capital gain "profit" by deferring certain fixing-up expenses, such as repainting, to within 90 days of the date that you put you home up for sale.

In the example, if total selling expenses were $6,800, that amount would be deductible. Here is how it adds up (and subtracts): Selling price of home

New revenue ruling employees for statutory

Full time Life Insurance salespeople, agent and commission drivers, traveling salespeople, and other statutory employees can deduct business expenses free of two percent floor on miscellaneous deductions.

Statutory employees are those who are considered employees for Social Security and unemployment tax purposes only. Their income is reported on a W-2 and their employer will withhold FICA (Social Security) taxes for them, but does not withhold taxes for the Federal or State. Up until now these employees had to claim their W-2 wages as employee wages and business expenses which were incurred were claimed on Schedule A as miscellaneous deductions subject to two percent of their Adjusted Gross Income.

Revenue Ruling 90-93 has changed this. The IRS says that they are not longer considered employees for purposes of the rule imposing the two percent floor on employee business expenses. These employees will now be able to use Schedule C-Profit or Loss From Business-for reporting their income. They will be able to deduct their business expenses directly off of the income earned. This allows for a full deduction of their expenses not subject to the two percent rule. Neither will they pay selfemployment tax since their income is reported on a W-2.

Further, the IRS is retroactively allowing full deductions for statutory employee's business expenses incurred after 1986. This means those employees who used Schedule A to list their expenses and were subject to the two percent rule will be able to amend their tax returns for tax years 1987, 1988, and 1989 and receive an extra refund.

Difference

$27,700

If you don't buy or build another house within the next two years, this $27,700 is the amount on which you pay income tax, rather than $50,000.

None of this tax saving can be accomplished without detailed record keeping.

Margaret Hampleman, an associate with the Hechtman & Associates accounting firm in Wilmette, says an individual aged 55 or more may qualify for a once-in-a-lifetime tax exclusion of up to $125,000 on the sale of a principal residence.

There are some restrictions on this particular tax exclusion. For example, to qualify, the seller must have used the house as a personal residence for three of the past five years.

But sellers shouldn't automatically take the onetime-only tax break just because they reach age 55, Hampleman advises.

"Timing is critical. At times, it may make more sense for a qualified seller not to claim the exclusion if there's a possibility that he or she will buy another house at some future date," she says.

Walters urges home sellers seeking clarification about tax liabilities to contact the IRS, a tax accountant or an attorney, "since significant sums of money may be involved."

Franchises Independently Owned & Operated

We at the State Bank of Antioch are preparing our Annual Report and it will be another good report from a community bank that is in very good condition. We would like to share with you the President's letter which will accompany our report to shareholders...

As if the publicity about financial institutions in 1989 wasn't bad enough, 1990 proved to be even worse. The FDIC is in a cash crunch and S & L's continue to drain huge federal assistance dollars. Credit Unions have entered the public eye as many of these so-called "not-for-profit" institutions also require assistance dollars. Again, the State Bank of Antioch, your community banking leader, stands as the kind of community bank of which customers and shareholders can be very proud: a bank of continuing strength, stability and conservative leadership.

Earnings in 1990 before income taxes, and after local propety taxes of nearly $79,000, were more than $3.125 million dollars. After paying state and federal income taxes of over $880,000, earnings netted out at about $2.25 million dollars. ROA (return on average assets) was good at 1.25% and ROE (return on equity) was also very good at 15.14%. Total assets in 1990 grew from the 1989 year end figure of $167 million to nearly $192 million at the end of 1990, a very strong growth rate of 14.77%. This rapid growth reflects both our community's continuing strong economy and some shifting of deposits by new customers from their former banks, credit unions and S & L's, which either closed or were taken over in 1990.

Other significant operating figures show that we increased our loan loss reserves by 7.16% to 1.35 million dollars. This represents 1.21% of total loans and is a comfortable, conservative figure by any measure. Non-earning assets ended the year at $377,000 which is 0.2% of total assets, a figure well below industry averages. Our total capital account increased by 11.46% and stands at $14.86 million dollars. We think our solid capital base, along with consistent earnings and our 96 year service record, have earned the State Bank of Antioch some significant stature and respect among the financial institutions in and around our market area.

I told you last year that we were continuing to look into new branching possibilities. We have chosen a very fine location in a rapidly developing area of Grayslake and have purchased a prime 5 acre site. In 1991, we will be planning a full service branch bank in Grayslake with which we will be able to bring to this new marketplace the same kind of stable, competitive and service oriented banking now offered in Antioch and Lindenhurst.

There is no doubt 1991 will be another year of ups and downs in the financial marketplace as it starts out with a recession and war. You can count on the State Bank of Antioch to continue to offer sound, safe and reliable financial services throughout the Chain-O-Lakes area.

Once again, let me take this opportunity to thank you, our valued customers and shareholders, for your continued patronage and support.

Valentine's Day—It's in the bag!

These plump, fat Valentine bags are ideal as a container for a special present, bag loaded with candies, colorful centerpieces, carrier for school valentines or party favors made from smaller brown paper bags.

Simple to make; start with a brown paper lunch bag. Fold the top half of the bag inside. With staples, attach one piece of tissue paper to the inside of each side of the bag.

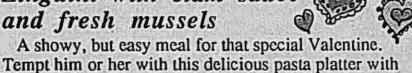

Fill with goodies, then gather tissue paper at top and tie with a bright ribbon. To finish, cut out hearts from shades of pinks and reds, then glue onto the tissue paper.

These should receive lots of ooh's and ah's. Mine did.

1 Tbl. flour

1 can minced clams

1/2 tsp. leaf thyme freshly ground pepper salt

fresh parsley, chopped

1 lb. smallish, fresh mussels 1 lb. linguini pasta, cooked and hot

lemons, wedged or sliced

In a large pan, saute garlic, onions and celery in meted butter and oil. Stir and cook for about 3 to 4 minutes. Stir in one tablespoon flour and cook 1 minute more. Add clams with liquid, clam juice and thyme, stirring to thicken the mixture. Mix in to taste freshly ground pepper and salt.

When buying fresh mussels be sure that all are tightly closed. Any shells open are usually dead, you don't want those. Before using, wash and pull off any 'beard' that adheres to the shell.

Place mussel 'hinge' edge down into hot clam sauce. Cover and simmer gently. The mussels will open in about five minutes. Those shells that do not open should be discarded. Spoon clam sauce over mussels and cook for another minute.

Place cooked linguini on heated platter, pour clam sauce with mussels over. Arrange the mussels attractively over the top. Sprinkle with fresh chopped parsley. Serve with lemon wedges and Parmesan cheese.

Serves four.

'Sunflower Minnie' sprouts from artist's backyard drama sunflower. Willadene the gardener might demonstrate rose pruning.

The multi-faceted Willadene Nicholas, well-known in these parts for her poetry books and watercolor paintings, has combined her many talents into one project, a children's book, "Minnie the Sunflower."

"Minnie, the Sunflower" was inspired by a real event, one that happened in the Grayslake backyard of the Nicholas family. Willadene tells a tale which begins when the family buys a weed eater. "My son cut down the sunflowers. He thought they were weeds," says Willadene. "I really cried after that."

I hadn't bloomed yet and I guess I looked like a weed, the big sunflowers hadn't bloomed yet either, so I guess the 'Man' (I won't name names) thought they were weeds too — Minnie the Sunflower

It wasn't long, however, before, Willadene noticed a miniature sunflower in between the rose bushes. "It's all true," Willadene stresses. "The only part of the story that is fictional is how the sunflower got in between two rose bushes."

So, I pulled up my roots (sort of like legs) and got out of there fast.— Minnie Willadene took photos of the miniature sunflower and even painted a picture of the "perfect" specimen. She said after her son Ray T. "Nick" Nicholas Jr. (alias the "Man") realized that he had cut down the sunflowers, he felt very guilty. "He sure learned about horticulture fast. Now he's so protective of all the flowers," she said.

by Willadene with the help of grandchildren Amanda and Ryan. Amanda drew a picture of her father, the "Man" cutting down the sunflowers. Ryan drew a picture of Minnie, happy and thriving.

"Minnie the Sunflower," which has a copyright, was Willadene's first venture into children's books. Her previous literary work includes the poem/prose books, "A Child Can Dream," "What are the Songs of Love?" and "Take a Walk Upon a Rainbow."

Willadene is well-known for her watercolors of roses, sunsets, and other scenic sites which grace the walls of many homes both near and far. For many years she taught art classes in local schools and at her home,

"I just do everything. I want to convey interesting experiences. I use whatever instrument I can to convey them," says Willadene. "These are my communications with other people."

A Hawaiian wedding

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

It's hard to argue that Hawaii is the perfect honeymoon destination. But did you ever consider Hawaii as the setting for your wedding, too?

What could be more romantic than saying "I do" next to a shimmering Hawaiian waterfall? Or perhaps in a grotto lavished in green ferns. Maybe that exchange of vows could take place on a hidden beach with a legendary Hawaiian sunset for a backdrop. You could even out-do Charles and Diana and get married on the grounds of an ancient Royal Palace.

Want to make your wedding even more unique? Skip the tux and the traditional wedding gown and go Hawaiian. No, that doesn't mean the bride wears a grass skirt. Instead she will don a Hawaiian wedding dress called holoku. On her head the bride wears an intricately woven crown of flowers and ferns called a haku. The groom wears a long-sleeved white shirt and pants accented by a red sash.

Arranging such a wedding is easier than you may think. Many of the finer hotels throught the islands, as well as many tour operators offer wedding packages. These can be as simple as a quick "I do" on the beach to one in which a Rolls-Royce takes you to a private yacht for a ceremony on a sunset sea. They will handle everything from the marriage license to the cake and flowers. Your travel agent should be able to give you all the details.

Requirements for getting married in Hawaii are few. Each of you must be at least 20 years of age. There is no waiting period and no blood test is required. The bride-to-be does need proof of rubella immunization which can be obtained from your doctor. A marriage permit costs $8 and can be obtained from the Department of Health in Honolulu or from one of the many agents on the neighbor islands.

So what will the relatives think when you tell them the wedding is going to be in Hawaii? My guess is everyone is looking for a reason to go to the islands and you may have just given them one.

Vibrant Tex-Mex music set for Adler concert

The vibrant ensemble music from Texas and Mexico will ring in Libertyville as the David Adler Cultural Center presents Ecos Del Notre in a special concert and dance program on Saturday, Feb. 9 at 8 p.m., at the American Legion Hall, 715 N. Milwaukee Ave., (Rte. 21) in Libcrtyville.

The Waukegan based Ecos Del Notre features the talents of Trinidad Esparza, Jr., on vocals and bajo sexto; Roberto Guzman playing accordion; Abran Aquire, Jr., on batera; Francisco Medina playing bass; and vocalist Gelacio Reyes. Band members have performed throughout the Midwest and Texas for dances and festivals, and their music is an important part of social events within regional Latino communities. Esparza, the band leader, comes from a family rich in music traditions. His father, mother and grandparents regularly sang the songs of their southwestern homeland.

"Conjunto" or "conjunto norteno" music has its roots in the dance music of early German immigrants. This influence can still be witnessed in the prominent role of the accordion in today's conjunto bands. The conjunto repertoire includes polkas, schottishes, and waltzes, as well as many pan-Mexican and Texas-Mexican popular songs styles cast in a polka rhythm.

The concert will be followed by a participatory dance, which will include an explanation of the basic steps used at conjunto norteno dances by Mary Lou Esparza. Everyone is welcome to join in the dance or to sit and enjoy the music.

This concert begins the new "In the Tradition" series presented by the David Adler Cultural Center, with support from Baxter Healthcare Corp., the National Endowment for the Arts and by the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency.

Admission to the program is $6 for adults, $4 for center members, $3 for seniors and children five to 15, and free for children four and under.

The David Adler Cultural Center is a non-profit organization which sponsors cultural arts and humanities programs for individuals of all ages. For information on this and other programs call (708)367-0707.

Electroliner fetes 50 years

Illinois Railway Museum will be holding a rededication ceremony and 50th birthday party for the Electroliner, the world's first all-electric streamlined train, on Saturday, Feb. 9. The ceremony, which is part of the museum's Electroliner Weekend, will be held at the museum grounds at 10:30 a.m. Rides on the famed streamliner will follow beginning at 11 a.m., through dusk, and again on Sunday from 11 a.m. to dusk.

The Electroliner was one of two trains built in 1941 for the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad, an electrified interurban railroad that ran between downtown Chicago and downtown Milwaukee until its abandonment in 1963. The trains were completely "state of the art" in 1941, and were considered by many contemporary designers as the most beautiful streamliners ever built.

Adorned with speed striping and wearing distinctive red and green colors, the Electroliners flashed across Lake County several times a day along the famed Skokie Valley route, never failing to arouse feelings of awe and pride in spec-

Operating on 600 volt direct current, the Electroliners were capable of speeds up to 110 mph, although a Federally-imposed speed limit restricted their speeds to under 79 mph. Nevertheless, the two trains maintained a timecard that called for five Electroliner round trips a day between the two cities with a 1 hour, 54 minute schedule terminal to terminal.

Between Dempster St., Skokie, and Lake Bluff, the train's route ran through the Skokie Valley on a mainline that had curve radii in excess of one mile. Between Waukegan and the south side of Milwaukee the line had only four curves.

During the 22 years of service on the North Shore Line each Electroliner amassed more than three million miles, most of it at speeds above 70 mph. Following the abandonment of the North Shore Line, the trains were sold to the Philadelphia Suburban Transportation Co. (Red Arrow Lines) for another 18 years of service as the Liberty Liners Valley Forge and Independence Hall.

Beginning in 1982, the museum began an 8-year, $100,000 restoration project that included a complete renovation of the control and braking systems; an overhaul of the propulsion, running gear, air conditioning, and heating systems; and a complete rebuilding of the four cars of the articulated train.

On Feb. 9, 1991, fifty years to the day after the inauguration of Electroliner service, the train will be released for service at the Illinois Railway Museum. The event will be marked with a special weekend festival that will feature rides on the Electroliner and other electrically-powered trains, model railroad contests and displays, and a Saturdayevening banquet featuring internationally-famous transit expert George Krambles.

Admission to the event is $20 per day, or $35 for both days (the banquet $25 extra).

Electroliner restored

In February 1941 the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad introduced the streamlined Electroliners to Chicago-Milwaukee interurban service. After the abandonment of the North Shore Line in 1963, the trains served for several years on the Philadelphia Suburban line, then unit 801-802 was acquired by the Illinois Railway Museum. It has undergone restoration. 1991 will celebrate as the Electroliner's 50th anniversary with several days of special operation planned.

Mystery man strikes in Mundelein study bank robbery links Police,

Mundelein police have been joined by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Libertyville and Wheeling police in looking for a slick, overweight, practiced bank robber.

His latest heist was Feb. 4 at the First Midwest Bank of Lake County, 1500 E. Allanson Rd., Mundelein, near the intersection of Butterfield Rd. The man got an undetermined amount of money in a fiveminute holdup that was identical to other bank robberies in the past year.

Last May it was the Tallman Savings and Loan in Libertyville. On Nov. 15 the First Colonial Bank in Wheeling was robbed in almost the same way. On March 5, 1990, his picture was taken while robbing the Savings of America Bank, 6115 S. Pulaski Rd., in Chicago. The man is believed to also have been responsible for similar holdups last year at banks in Norridge and Skokie.

At 10:30 a.m. on Feb. 4 the robber entered the remotely located bank in Mundelein's industrial area and walked up to the head teller. "Give me your f....ing money," he said, "all of it. Right now!"

The man displayed a large caliber handgun as the head teller and two others emptied their cash drawers onto the counter in front of them. The robber then walked from teller to teller, sweeping the money into a canvas gym bag. He carried a scanner to monitor police calls.

Two customers were in the bank at the time and a third walked in about the time the robber was leaving. While the robbery was in progress one of the cashiers pressed the bank burglar alarm alerting Mundelein police. The bank surveillance camera was not operating.

The man walked outside with the money, got into a blue Nissan station wagon and drove away, all in less than five minutes. The vehicle was found by responding police parked three blocks away on Washington St. in an industrial area. It was stolen over the weekend in Skokie.

Police Chief Wallace Frazier said all units were on the scene within minutes.

The modus operandi used by the robber is identical to other holdups being studied by police and the FBI.

The robber is described as being a portly 230 to 250 pounds, between 30 and 40 years old, which is difficult to determine because of his false beard, wearing a blue nylon jacket, dark colored baseball cap and sunglasses.

Lejman, defense help Panthers stay perfect

by STEVE PETERSON Lakeland Newspapers

When Pat Lejman was getting his introduction to basketball, he already had a clear idea of who his NBA hero would be.

"It's Dominique Wilkins," Lejman said.

The Atlanta Hawks' star's dunking ability is what earned the honor of being admired by the future Panther. And it should come as no surprise, then, that the Round Lake Panthers squeaked by Wauconda 60-58 as Lejman's inside move led to a go-ahead layup for a 59-58 Panther lead. Teammate Brian Smith then added a free throw.

Lejman, a 6-5 junior center who has dunked in practice, scored 18 points to lead the Panthers, who kept their Northwest Suburban Conference lead in tact. Lejman had one of the tougher defensive assignaments of the year as the Panthers tried to shut down powerful Scott Suhr. Shur scored 16 points and George Roberts had 15 in Wauconda's inside attack, but the visitors held them scoreless for the last 3:13.

"I was supposed to front him and the guy guarding Schmidt (Todd) was to stay come over and help," Lejman said of the Panthers' defensive strategy.

"We had success looking inside. We had been getting away from that in the past few games, looking for the three-pointer first," Round Lake Coach Bob Ward said.

The Panthers improved to 18-3 overall with the win, keeping the conference record perfect at 10-0. Wauconda, 4-7 in the NWSC and 8-13 overall, is at Marengo Feb. 8 while Round Lake hosts Lake Zurich.

"This group has been in this type of situation before. We came back well in the fourth quarter," Ward said.

Round Lake, which also received 11 points from Garrett Horn and Dave Burton, trailed 43-37 after a layup by Roberts in the third quarter. The Wauconda band proceeded to play the "Mission Impossible" theme song. Round Lake was in a one-for-14 shooting slump at the time and one could almost hear the famous "Book em, Dano".

But the Panthers, after calling timeout, regroped. They kicked up the tempo of the press as they have not done all game, and the timing, like the league record, stayed perfect. Wauconda would commit seven turnovers after the timeout.

Still, there was actually the matter of playing catchup. Wauconda was able to retain its lead, despite Round Lake pulling to within one on two instances, both on a tip-in by Lejman. But Roberts countered with two baskets for a 58-51 margin with just 3:13 left.

Burton, who had five points to that juncture, answered with three straight baskets and Lejman's layup put the Panthers ahead for good at 59-58 with :37 left.

Wauconda had the ball last, but could not get a final shot off. "We just wanted to run our offense and whoever was open would take it," Wauconda assistant Coach Len Sabourin said.

Sabourin said the Bulldogs have been working hard to mix up the offense. Demitri Hernandez led the home team with 19 points.

"The way we run our offense, four kids can score," Sabourin said.

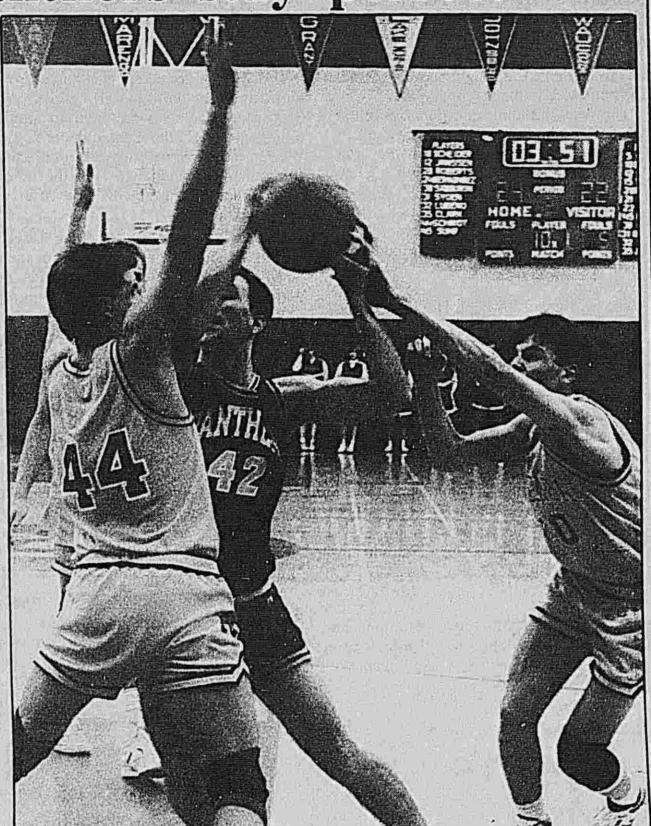

The game was an entertaining one even before the whistle sounded. A scuffle before the game led to a discussion, ultimately resulting in a technical foul on a Wauconda player in the second quarter.

Still, the Bulldogs stayed with the bigger Panthers, who had handled them once in Thanksgiving tourney and then in NWSC play.

"You have to give credit to (Dave) Gardner and his kids. The exact same thing happened last year when we played them three times," Ward said.

The game brought back memories for Sabourin, who recalled when he beat Marengo's sophomores at Wauconda a few years ago.

"We hope this is something to bring back quality basketball to Wauconda," Sabourin said.

Panther sandwich?

Round Lake's Dave Burton goes for two points against two Wauconda defenders in Northwest Suburban Conference game. Burton scored 11 points to help Panthers in come-from-behind 60-58 win. Defending for Wauconda are: Todd Schmidt (44) and George Roberts (20).

Huntington's timing helps Warren keep pace

by STEVE PETERSON Lakeland Newspapers

The time was the conclusion of the 1987-88 girls basketball season.

Warren's Teri Huntington was in there in the crowd, somewhere, celebrating as Warren defeated Rockford Boylan 61-54 to claim its first trip to Champaign. The crowd rushed to the floor at Round Lake Senior High School, waving Warren flags and high-fiving players and coaches.

Dave Huntington watched all of this, probably from the jam-packed Warren side of the Round Lake gym. What would it be like, he may have wondered, to play a key role on the Warren varsity, already rich in success?

Saturday night was not at Round Lake and the stakes were not quite as high as the famed Warren - Rockford Boylan game, but Huntington had a chance to enjoy the smiles and back-slapping as well. He scored 17 points to lead Warren to an 80-66 decision over North Suburban Conference foe Mundelein.

"She got most of the attention, but that gave me an incentive to work harder," Huntington said.

Teri Huntington played at the College of Lake County and now plays for Lake Forest College.

Scoring had not been the senior's forte to date, but he did not mind taking a break from his usual duties. "I'm more of a defensive player. I usually guard the other team's best player," Huntington said.

Huntington's role complimented those of Ian Whittington and Craig Shelton. Whittington and Shelton each had 16 points and Ben Bongratz added 11.

"All our inside players did a good job. We will need them if we are to go anywhere this year," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said.

Huntington, at 6-2, is tall enough to play in the post positions, but his 150-pound frame means he may be going up against players with 30 to 50 pounds more bulk. The St. Patricks school graduate has been a frequent visitor to the Warren weight room to remedy that situation.

"We got killed on the boards. What second shots we got, we missed," Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said.

The Mustangs, 6-8 in the NSC and 9-12 overall, started the weekend with hopes of gaining a first division status. But a 95-68 loss to first-place Stevenson and the loss to Warren sent the Mustangs recling. They are at Niles North Feb. 8 before hosting North Chicago Feb. 9. Warren stayed in a tie for first with Stevenson and Libertyville with the win, improving to 12-2. The tie will be broken this weekend, as Warren, after a contest against Zion-Benton Feb. 8, is at Libertyville Feb. 9.

For Mundelein, the question is of scoring balance. Shawn Harlan had 25 points and Alvin Cruz had 18, but the next highest scorer had five points. "We have to have more than two scorers. No one is picking up the slack." Kessel said.

one is picking up the slack," Kessel said. Warren led 14-8 in the early going, only to see Mundelein, behind Harlan's efforts, forge a 16-16 tie after one.

Mundelein stayed with Warren until the end of the third quarter. A free throw by Harlan pulled the home team to within three points, but Warren then extended the lead to 51-39 by the end of the third quarter.

Warren crashes Pats' senior night festivities

by STEVE PETERSON Lakeland Newspapers

When most people think of pressure in basketball, the NBA finals, the "Final Four" or the state finals in high school may come to mind.

But at Warren Twp. High School, the girls basketball team may address pressure sooner than those events. For pressure in Gurnce may involve, "what are you going to do for an encore?" After all, the Blue Devils have won two conference titles, advanced to the Elite Eight once and Sweet Sixteen twice in the last four years.

That was the main question facing the Blue Devils as practice began in November. They answered that question with an exclamation point in Prairie View Thursday.

"I told them the first day of practice that they had not think about last year's 27-2 record and establish their own identity," Campbell said after a 64-35 win over Stevenson.

The win gave the Blue Devils a clean sweep - 18-0 in NSC play. That marked the first time the Blue Devils have gone unbeaten in the league.

The Pats were geared for an upset as the regular season drew to a close. There were green and white balloons on the Stevenson bench, and Coach Phil Raffaelli acknowledged the contributions of his seniors.

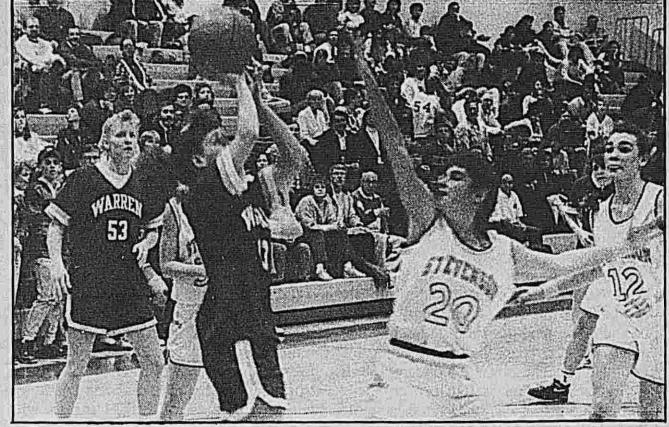

But a veteran and a player who could be a big factor next November led the Devils. Senior Patty Geroulis scored 14 points and Aince Geiger, a junior, had 12.

"Defense is the main part of our game," Campbell said.

The Warren zone kept Stevenson from working the ball in all night. All Stevenson players were held in single digits, although the Pats did break the Warren defensive average of 30. Denise Butler had six points to lead the home team, which ended the NSC race at 8-10, 12-12 overall.

Warren led early, as the Blue Devils started the game by making eight of their first 12 shots. Geiger was a force inside for Warren, and she started it with a tip-in for a 12-4 lead.

Stevenson closed the gap to 14-10 on two Courtney DeBolt free throws.

Bullman helps Grant finish strong in NWSC

Grant High School's girls basketball team may have one of the more experienced teams in the Northwest Suburban Conference race when the Bulldogs begin the 1991-92 season.

For youth was the theme at the Fox Lake school this year, as the Bulldogs finished 6-8 in the NWSC, in sixth place. They took a 12-12 record into the Round Lake sectional this wcck.

Grant finished the regular season on a winning note, downing Lake Zurich 41-34 in conference play. Janelle Bullman led the Bulldogs with 19 points, topping her points per game average of 11.6.

"She has progressed pretty well. With maturity, she will be a good player. She has already developed some nice inside moves," Grant Coach John Schad said.

Bullman is in her second year on the Grant varsity. Against Lake Zurich, Grant led 10-7 after one and the game remained tight until the fourth quarter. That is when the visitors went on a 16-9 win to finish the game.

Lake Zurich, which lost to Crystal Lake Central Saturday, finished the conference season at 7-7.

"We were the type of team which could beat the best and lose to the worst.Our biggest problem is we never had 10 players to practice with," Schad said.

Grant's youthful lineup included three sophomores, Vicki Nelson, a forwardcenter, guards Chris Rowan and Vicki Keller.

Tammi Fischer and Melissa Raasch will be the top seniors lost to graduation. Fischer, on her third year as a varsity player, had a 13.2 points per game average. "She is a great all-around player and an excellent student," Schad said.

Elsewhere in the NWSC, Johnsburg nipped Round Lake 38-34 to finish at 10-4 in the league, a tie for seccond.

Attitude helps 'Hawks claim first regional title

Johnsburg's wrestling team, armed with a strong attitude, captured its first regional wrestling title last week despite the school being the smallest of the Class AA schools in Illinois.

"Our kids had a good attitude all week," Johnsburg Coach Jim Briscoe said.

The Skyhawks had 190 and one-half points to 164 and one-half for Dundee-Crown. The two teams clashed Tuesday in team regional finals.

The Skyhawks won the title with five champions, two second-place finishes and three thirds. The top three in each weight class advance to the Barrington sectional Feb. 8 and 9.

Looming for the Skyhawks include Lake County powerhouses Libertyville, Waukegan, Round Lake and qualifiers from the Round Lake regional. The Skyhawks have faced Libertyville and lost to Round Lake in a Northwest Suburban Conference dual meet.

There were two surprises for the Johnsburg contingent, as Duane Schwabuer downed Mike Zimmerman of McHenry 7-4. Zimmerman came into the meet with a 30-2 record.

At 145 pounds, Rob Torres of Johnsburg downed Tim Ault of Dundee-Crown 8-3.

Other titles won by Johnsburg include Jimmy Edwards with a pin of Kevin Templin of Crystal Lake Central in the final at 1:29. Also, Chris Jankowski won by an injury default at 189. Third place winners for JHS were: Jesse Waldeck at 103, Jon Olekszy at 119, Dave Mendlik at 140.

Girls fall thriller

The Antioch-Stevenson girls basketball game was supposed to be a close one to start the Round Lake sectional complex.

And the fans at Stevenson got just that and more as the two North Suburban Conference schools fought in a long see-saw struggle. It took an overtime session, but Stevenson won 68-64.

Sue Ozga led Antioch with 19 points and Janelle Macki added 12. Stevenson outscored Antioch 10-6 in the extra session.

Ozga scored nine of her points in the fourth quarter.

Camp Fire Council plays cupid for Valentine's Day

Are you looking for that special way to say "Be My Valentine" to that special someone on February 14? The Le-To-He, Illinois Council of Camp Fire has the answer and they will do it for you for $10 plus handling.

As a February fund-raiser to support the programs for boys and girls in Lake and McHenry Counties, the Camp Fire Council will deliver a special package from St. Valentine to the home or apartment of that special someone. The package will include a box of candy, an "I Love You Bear", a silk rose for adults, coloring books for children and much more. Packages will be delivered by the board of directors or shipped to arrive on Valentine's Day.

"Valentine's Day should be special," said Irene Peterson, Executive Director of the Le-To-He Council, "and what a better way could an organization like ours choose to raise money than one which makes so many people happy."

Because of the special nature of the project, only 500 orders will be accepted. To order your visit from St. Valentine, call (708) 356-1201.
